Actor Bio:

Alexis Cruz achieved international fame after starring in Roland Emmerich's box-office hit, "Stargate" in which he played the young Egyptian rebel leader, Skaara. After going on to study Acting and Directing at the Boston University School of Fine Arts Conservatory, Alexis starred in HBO's Emmy-nominated true story, "P.O.W.E.R.: The Eddie Matos Story" in the title role and in CBS' acclaimed mini-series, "The Streets of Laredo".

Alexis was honored as an ALMA Award nominee for Best Actor for his performance in "Detention: Siege at Johnson High" and numerous other awards including Hispanic Unity USA, for his outstanding commitment to the Hispanic community. Passionate about encouraging arts education, Alexis was part of the East LA Classic Theatre/LAUSD Teacher's program bringing theatre education to East Los Angeles middle schools as a certified Creative Dramatics instructor. Alexis has been a spokesman for the National Council de La Raza and a member of The National Hispanic Foundation for the Arts founded by Jimmy Smits, Sonia Braga and Esai Morales.

Cruz has since starred in the films "Bug", "Almost A Woman" based on the novel by Esmeralda Santiago and, "Stand Up For Justice." In perhaps the most ground-breaking role of his career, Alexis has found world-wide acclaim for his pioneering role as the angel, Raphael, on CBS' flagship prime-time drama, "Touched By An Angel" and while recurring on the Emmy award-winning series, Alexis reprised his popular role as, Skaara, on one of prime-time cable's most successful sci-fi programs, "Stargate SG-1" with Richard Dean Anderson. He recurred as Sgt. Joaquin Garcia in Gregory Nava's critically acclaimed series, "American Family" on PBS, starred in the independent feature film, "Tortilla Heaven" and starred with James Woods in the hit CBS TV series "Shark".

His recent credits include Sam Raimi's, "Drag Me to Hell" and Alexis will be starring in the upcoming paranormal thriller, "Sighting". In addition to his film and television credits, Alexis Cruz is the Creative Director for The Mythmaker Group, co-creating and producing a series of graphic novels beginning with "The Unprofessionals" by Colin Rankine due to launch in May 2012.
