I'm drawn to roles that challenge me physically and emotionally, particularly in action, comedy, and thriller/horror genres. I love exploring the complexities of anti-heroes and relish the opportunity to delve into sci-fi and superhero projects.

My journey as an actor has been fueled by a passion for storytelling and a desire to connect with audiences on a visceral level. I honed my craft under the guidance of Scott Rogers at Scott Rogers Studio and Lesly Kahn at Lesly Kahn & Co, where I developed a deep understanding of character development and performance technique.

Prior to acting, I served in the military, an experience that instilled in me discipline, resilience, and a strong sense of physicality. This background has proven invaluable in tackling demanding roles that require both emotional depth and action prowess.

I'm actively seeking lead and supporting roles in film projects that push boundaries and ignite the imagination. I'm confident that my dedication, versatility, and unique experiences will make me a valuable asset to any production.
