Actor Bio:

Carla started acting at the ripe age of three where she represented such products as Tootsie Roll, and Mattel's Barbie doll.

Born to parents in the business (a professional singer and a key grip), Carla was raised in southern California, her backyard was literally the back lot of Warner Bros. Spending every moment possible on set with her key grip father led her desire to be 'in front' of the camera as she spent all her vacations sitting on set watching productions roll. Carla's hiatus lasted for several years while she finished her formal education and continued training as an actor.

She moved to Nashville for the music side of her talents, and stayed because she fell in love with the countryside and discovered an incredibly professional film community of former Hollywood production and talent.
