Actor Bio:

Ms. Lenee trained as a classical ballet dancer starting at age 3 and studied at the School of American Ballet (SAB) in New York and with renowned ballet teacher Sulamith Messerer of The Bolshoi Ballet and The Royal Ballet. Ms. Lenee graduated with a Masters Degree from the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts (LAMDA). During her studies, Ms. Lenee began modeling and became the muse of Karl Lagerfeld at Chanel, Hubert de Givenchy and Yves Saint Laurent, living as an expatriate in Paris and London. Her contacts with artists in Paris gave inspiration to an art business for which she was an art expert at Drouot Auction House in Paris, France, organized auctions and exhibitions throughout Europe, and became an associate of Sotheby's while at the same time pursuing her acting career which brought her to Hollywood, California.

She recently appeared in the theater as The Holy Spirit and choreographed the dances in the new comedy "If Church Walls Could Talk" written and directed by Chris Meehan and playing at the Miles Playhouse in Santa Monica. Her recent film credits are Elizabeth, an outspoken teacher against Apartheid in "Midnight Scorpion" directed by Tony Amara and undercover Detective Sarah Johnson, exposing plans of espionage by her Chinese American partner in the thriller Arise, directed by Pema D. Gaykil, "Female Daughter", "The Wolf and the Wayfarer" and "The Leak" screened at Warner Brothers Studio. Ms. Lenee appeared as Arjuna with Mark Harelik as Krishna in Bhagavad Gita at a Fundraiser at the Iyengar Yoga Institute in Los Angeles in September 2013.

Ms. Lenee enjoys ballroom dancing, cooking and is a devoted yogini.
