Actor Bio:

Winner of Boston Metro's Newspaper Favorite Comedian, You might have caught Roz on Oscar night playing a scrub nurse in a Pepsi commercial or jumping out of buses in the reenactment show What should you do. Taught by Gary Austin, founder of The Groundlings, Roz has excellent improv abilities. Roz has been steadily making her presence known in Hollywood. Her one-woman show Fried Clams with Bellies opened to sold out audiences in Hollywood in 2003 and also in Martha's Vineyard this past month. Brownes humor can be heard on KLOS Fm 5 o'clock funnies. Browne has kept audiences laughing since 1992 when she first began to pursue her dream. A high school teacher told her she can make a lot of money as a CPA. So thats what she did. She found out later that the teacher was just kidding, states Browne who performs regularly at The Improv, The Laugh Factory and The World Famous Comedy Store in Hollywood. Browne has
