Actor Bio:

My name is Shaun Allen and I am involved with various productions within television & film. I've worked in Chicago, San Francisco and now New York City as an actor working full time on developing my craft. I have a great sense of humor and personality that can be transformed into a character brought to life on the screen and on stage. I can do comedy cause I am so charismatic and charming. My improv skills are very on target with delivering great punch lines that can make a whole room laugh. As far as being involved with different work shops, I have been taking advantage of any opportunities that are presented to me to grow as a well rounded actor within the New York market.
