Actor Bio:

As a kid living in England listening to BBC comedies and dramas I fell in love with radio which no doubt led to my on-air announcing and radio production work during and after college. The radio bug was followed eventually by a bite from the acting bug. Born in California, I was fortunate to have lived four years in England and travel most of Western Europe as well as spending fourteen years in Washington D.C. College years were spent in California where I married and became the proud father of Christopher. Relocating to New Mexico in 2006 was like moving home to where I had never lived, joining a large extended family of cousins, uncles and aunts. After a lengthy hiatus from acting I became involved again in 2012 with my first stage appearance in eighteen years in "Witness for the Prosecution" at Albuquerque Little Theater and have been at it ever since.
